PRIORITY 21 OF 33 · SCORE 2.8

Securities and Exchange Commission

The SEC spends little, so it is not a fraud target in the usual sense. Its value here is as a data source and partner: EDGAR filings reveal ownership, officers and related parties for public companies and many private offerings, which strengthens the entity spine for every other brief. The SEC also distributes Fair Fund money to harmed investors, which can attract fraudulent claims.

INVESTIGATIONS WE PROPOSE

SEC-1 EDGAR officers and Form D issuers added to the entity spine to reveal common control. First prototype.

SEC-2 Award recipients run by people barred or charged by SEC or FINRA.

EXPOSURE

- $1.8B in outlays in FY2026, mostly salaries.
- Fair Fund and disgorgement distributions to investors.

PUBLIC DATA WE USE

- EDGAR: company filings, Form D private offerings (issuers, officers, addresses), insider ownership.
- SEC litigation and administrative releases naming individuals.

HOW WE DETECT IT

1. Entity enrichment: link federal contractors and grantees to EDGAR officers and Form D issuers to find hidden common control.
2. Bad-actor overlap: people barred or charged by the SEC who also run federal award recipients.

FIRST PROTOTYPE

An EDGAR enrichment step added to the shared entity pipeline, reporting award recipients whose officers appear in SEC enforcement actions.

OUR REVIEW, DELIVERED WEEK 8

Add EDGAR officers, Form D issuers and related persons to the entity spine; flag federal award recipients whose officers appear in SEC litigation or administrative releases, or in FINRA BrokerCheck disciplinary records. Delivered as a spine feature in week 8 and a short memo.

Every lead goes to an Inspector General or DOJ as a referral package with sources and caveats. Nothing is published.

WHAT WE ASK OF SEC

A named contact to receive leads, and a short review of the Phase 1 results to agree which internal records would confirm or rule them out.

LIMITS

Most small federal contractors are private and absent from EDGAR except through Form D.

SOURCES

- SEC EDGAR search
- USAspending agency profiles (FY2026 outlays)

Scores and plans are our judgment from public sources. Risk indicators are leads for Inspectors General or DOJ, not accusations.
